MARTIN LUTHER KING JR. MEMORIAL Washington, DC

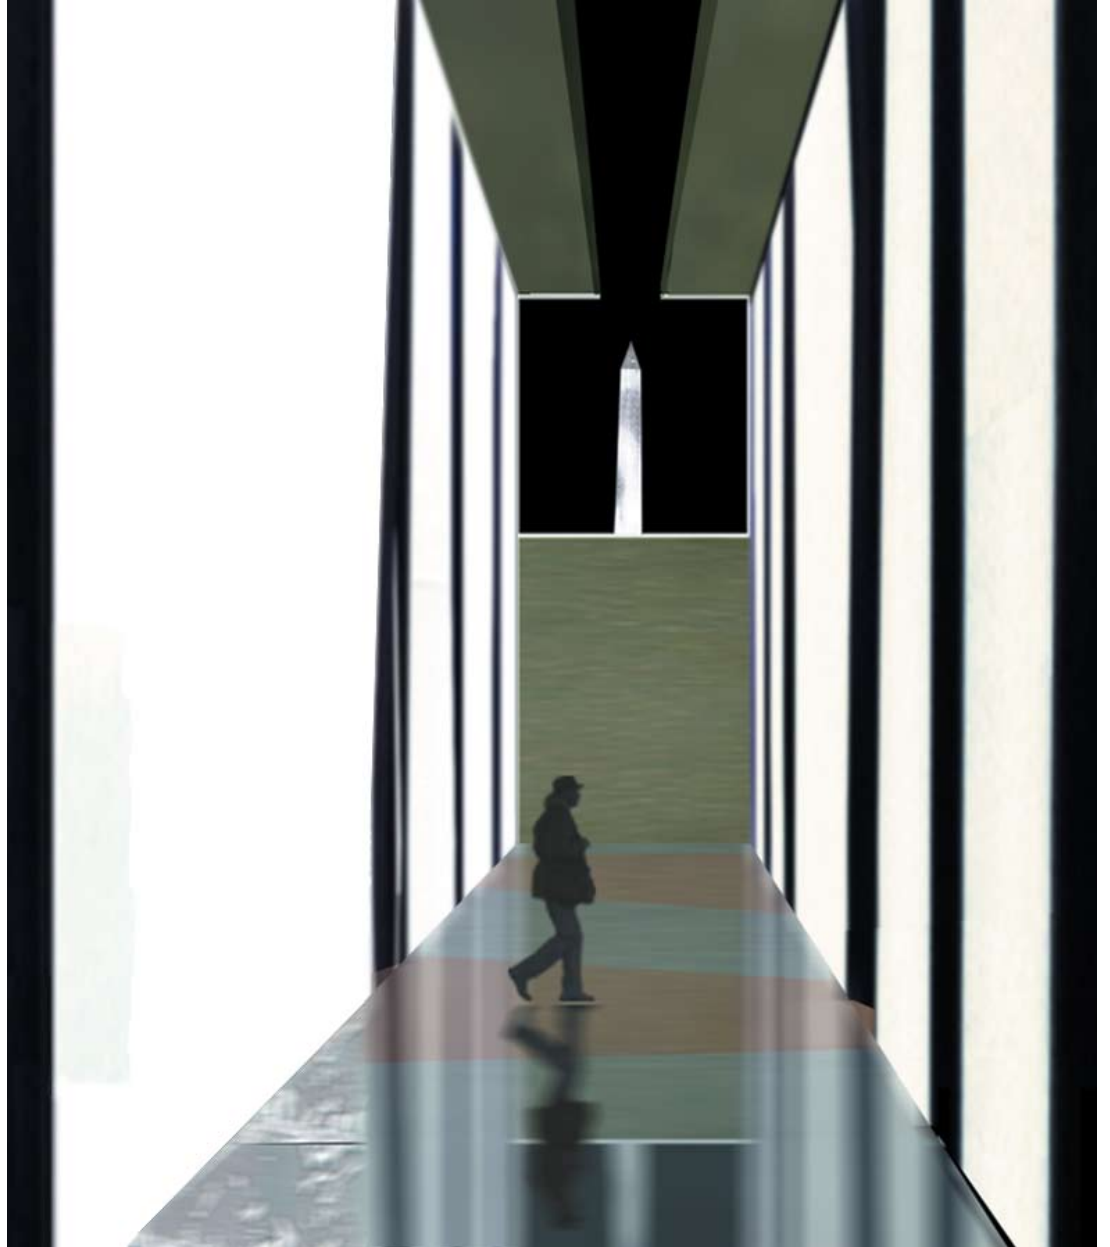

1998

Martin
You have roused us
You have made us witness to so many brave souls You have shown us that those who walk through the midst of fear
Can pass through mountains
Can ford the mighty rivers that divide us Can claim their rightful land Can call us to become their heirs

How does the Memorial tell us of the Man, the Movement, the Message?
The Man is at the center inviting you, literally, to walk on water albeit only an 1/8th of an inch as you cross the still waters
The passages tell the story of the Movement--and the Man embossed on the glowing stone
The whole Memorial is the Message--that and your journey through it
